Twin Paris Drive Opens

By GLADWIN HILL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 25 (AP)—British and American armies sprang forward in powerful twin assaults in Normandy today, supported by heavy air and artillery bombardment. Brtiish-Canadian tanks and infantry gained up to a mile in early hours of a dawn push striking south of Caen on the east flank.

American troops jumped off shortly before noon under a strong canopy of planes, "advancing against heavy resistance," a field annoncement said. No details were given, but the American First Army has been strung along a winding front from fallen St. Lo to Lessay on the west coast.

(Berlin said the U. S. attack hit from the area northwest of St. Lo, and admitted a "small penetration" declared to have been sealed off later.)

The double offensives broke a four-day stalemate in France.

Powerful waves of heavy, medium and light bombers were hurled against German positions at both ends of the battle front to clear the way for the thrust.

Heavy bombardment by all types of Allied bombers preceded the forenoon drive by the American First Army, and on the other end of the front RAF medium bombers blasted German concentrations in La Hogue wood, only 2000 yards ahead of Allied positions southeast of Caen.

Gen. Montgomery, side-stepping a formidable German anti-tank screen force southeast of Caen, sent his forces piling southward on the road to Falaise along a four-mile front, heading toward firm open ground excellent for tank battles.

The ridge highway which the British and Canadians were following leads to Falaise, birthplace of William the Conqueror, and to Paris.

In the early hours of the push, while the advancing troops still were shielded by ground mists, British and Canadians reached May-Sur-Orne for an advance of 700 yards and Verrieres for a gain of 1500 yards.

Reds Close On Warsaw

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, July 25 (AP)—Swift Russian columns paced by tanks, Kuban Cossacks and swarms of planes were less than 50 miles from Warsaw today after splitting German armies in the heart of Poland by capturing Lublin and Lukow.

The drive over the dusty, unobstructed plains carried the Russians 40 miles in 24 hours. More than 12 hours ago they were on the approaches of Siedlce which the Germans said they had evacuated), 50 miles east of the Polish capital.

The Reds were less than 20 miles from the Wisla (Vistula) river, which flows by Warsaw to form the last natural barrier to Germany itself. A swift crossing of the Wisla would outflank the Warsaw region and expose the city of 1,265,700 to attack from the south.

NAZI PANIC AT WARSAW

German Silesia lies within 150 miles of advanced Aussian forces who crossed the San river.

Red pilots report panic around Warsaw with roads chocked with transport.

The main frontal assault toward Warsaw was 60 miles wide and indications were other army groups from the northeast along the Bug river and from Captured Lublin wereabout to join in a co-ordinated assault on the capital, 319 miles from Berlin.

(The German communique reported bitter fighting inside Lwow, third city of Poland already bypassed and 60 miles behind Red army vanguards. The Nazis asserted their Lublin garrison still was resisting "superior forces.")

Within two hours forced march of East Prussia.

CLOSE IN ON RIGA

Frontally attacking Vialystok on the Leningrad-Warsaw railroad.

Outflanking Kaunas in the Lithuanian republic.

Virtually at the border of southern Estonia after advancing nine miles southwest of Pskov.

108 miles east of Krakow.

120 miles east of Lodz and 42 miles east of Radom.

(The Germans said the Russians were preparing another offensive north of Iasi, 174 miles northeast of the Romania oil center of Ploseti.)

Southeast of Narva, the Russians resumed their attack from their bridgehead inside the Soviet Estonian republic in the 30-mile corridor between Lake Peipus and the Baltic. This seemed to be an offensive toward the Estonian capital of Tallinn.

It appeared the next few hours would determine whether Hitler would attempt a stand on the Wisla. Feeling groups of tattered Germans were rushing for the closest bridges on the river.

Members of the new national committee of Poland went west with the Red Army toward Warsaw. In each captured Polish town (9000) square miles of German-held Poland have been captured), the committee opened recruting offices for the Polish Army fighting beside the Soviets.

RUSSIA—Moving relentlessly westward, Red forces today are reported 20 miles from the Wisla (Vistula) river and threatening to outflank Warsaw from the south, with other Russian armies moving from Lublin and the northeast co-ordinating in the drive. In all other sectors Soviet forces are advancing.

Yanks 10 Miles From Florence

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

ROME, July 25 (INS)—Spearheads of American armored units advanced to within 10 miles of Florence today.

Farther west American units continued to consolidate positions on the Arno river.

Pisa still remained only partly occupied by the Yanks, the German's hurling shells into the southern sections of the city which the Americans had seized.

Patrols found bridges across the Arno demolished.

Strada, on highway 2, was captured, and Eighth Army forces advanced against stiff opposition. They took Monte Domini, two miles from Greve.

U. S., Argentine Break Complete

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The recall to Argentina of Ambassador Adrian Escobar completes the diplomatic break between Washington and Buenos Aires which has been developing since the Farrell regime took office in January.

Diplomatic quarters awaited with considerable interest tomorrow's promised statement from Buenos Aires as a possible hint whether last night's action is to be followed by withdrawal of Argentina's ambassadors to other American capitals or whether this is the only one.

Abp. Spellman Visits Gen. Clark

By FRANK CONNIFF

FIFTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Italy, July 25 (INS)—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York flew today from Rome to the Fifth Army's forward headquarters only a few miles behind the lines and was welcomed by Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, the Fifth's commander.

The archbishop reviewed the guard formed in his honor, lunched with the general and planned to say mass in an evacuation hospital. He will visit divisions at the front tomorrow.

Archbishop Spellman said reports he talked with the Pope regarding peace conditions were not true.

He disclosed he had two audiences with the Pope, one lasting 5 minutes.

Generals in Peace Plea

LONDON, July 25 INS)—Sixteen German generals captured by the Russians have issued a signed appeal to all German officers and men to renounce Hitler and bring the war to an end by refusing to fight, the London Evening News said today. The appeal was said to have been printed in Moscow newspapers, broadcast by the Moscow radio and dropped in leaflet form over German-held territory.

Reproductions of the signatures of the generals were headed by that of Gen. Velkers, former commander of the 27th Army Corps.

The statement declared that the signers believe the present struggle hopeless. They appeal to the German army to break with Hitler immediately, denounce all orders from him or his henchmen, and bring to an immediate end "this senseless bloodshed."

Meanwhile the German home front was threatened with a series of stern decrees in an apparent Nazi effort to gain a strangle hold on all possible revolt forces.

An unidentified announcer speaking meanwhile on a German radio wavelength declared that official Nazi statements asserting that the revolt of army officers has been stemmed are lies and said that the bulk of the opposition forces still is intact.

The Nazi Propaganda Agency DNB, saying that the purported attempt on the life of Adolf Hitler was the starting signal for "total war," warned there were a number of indications that a great number of new decrees were forthcoming. Some of the decrees, DNB said, would cut deep into the everyday life of the Germans.

"Everything not essential to life itself must be rooted out," CBS quoted DNB as saying. "We must be ready to throw our very last reserves into the fight."

(The American transmitter in London, according to NBC, said that Swiss dispatches reported Hitler has called a conference at Berchtesgaden for today to select new generals for the Russian and Baltic fronts.

Tokyo Admits Peril Grows in Marianas

By Associated Press

The twin invasions of Guam and Tinian moved smoothly forward today, Allied troops killed more hundreds of Japanese trying to break free of the New Guinea death trap and in hard-pressed China the enemy was banging his head against a stonewall defense at Hengyang.

Tokyo raido was worried, telling the homefolk that the Marianas situation "is growing more serious every day," and that Adm. Chester Nimitz' airmen were constantly rading Rota Island, between Guam and Tinian.

On newly-invaded Tinian, a Marianans island just south of Saipan, U. S. fighting men surged a mile inland to capture a third of the island's main airfield.

Marines and Army Iinfantry met stronger opposition on Guam, 125 miles south of Tinian, but isolated an airstrip and hammered the approaches to Agana, principal city of the U. S.-owned island and its capital.

Through July 22 U. S. casualties were 348 killed, 110 missing, 1500 wounded.

Million in Gas Coupons Lost

The mysterious disappearance in East Cambridge of a mail pouch containing gasoline coupons representing more than 1,000,000 gallons, was disclosed today by OPA officials, as postal inspectors pressed an investigation into possible black market angles.

It was revealed the pouch vanished July 13, after two OPA employes in East Cambridge issuance office left to take it to the postoffice.

The employes, postal inspectors said, have sworn they delivered it to the postoffice.

700 LETTERS IN BAG

No trace of its arrival, or its routing through the mails, has been established, inspectors said.

The mail pouch contained about 700 letters addressed to individuals and firms within a 50-mile radius of Boston.

Its disappearance was uncovered July 20, when the OPA began receiving scores of complaining letters from citizens and business concern officials who had not received their books as scheduled.

The coupons, some of which were for taxicab companies and truck fleet operators, included A, B, C and TT classifications.

MAIL NOT REGISTERED

The fact that OPA did not send them by registered mail has made tracing the pouch difficult thus far.

Chief Postal Inspector Rennyson Jefferson has assigned Inspectors J. J. Barbati and B. F. McCarthy to the case.

The probers acknowledged it is possible the pouch may have been misrouted by East Cambridge postoffice workers.

Many of the latter and OPA employes have been questioned.

The coupons could not have been stolen without wide-scale collusion, postal inspectors declared.

177 Called for McGrath Quiz

Efforts of Mrs. Bertha Pina, 39, of Scituate, to obtain reduction of her $25,000 bail on a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the murder of little Frances McGrath failed today in Hingham district court as Judge Daniel A. Shea ordered the case continued for one week.

Countering a claim by her counsel, Atty. John B. Mahar, that the bail was excessive, Judge Shea declared that it was not high in view of the seriousness of the case.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert G. Clarke, Jr., also indicated that Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing might agree to lower bail after completion of an inquest starting tomorrow before Judge Francis Geogan in the same court to which 177 witnesses have been summoned.

Mrs. Pina and a neighbor, John Lopes, 55, Scituate war worker, have been accused of finding the body of the slain McGrath girl in Norwell grove last June 13, three days before Lopes finally reported the discovery to police. Lopes is free in $25,000 bail on a similar charge.

Calling of 177 persons, including everyone State Police ever have talked to about the slaying, gives the McGrath murder the status of one of the most relentlessly investigated cases in the history of the state.

Capt. Joseph L. Ferrari declared: "This case is the hardest to crack in my 25 years experience on the State Police."

Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing also admitted that investigators have faced no easy task and added that his office has no real knowledge as to the identity of the slayer.

Mercury in 80s; No Rain in Sight

It should be a comfortable night for sleeping, with temperatures around 66, the weather bureau predicted today, with prospects for a fair Wednesday on which the mercury will reach the middle or upper 80s.

Victory gardeners hoping for rain will have to keep hoping. The fact is, there are no storms nearer Boston than "a few typical summer showers in Kansas," reported Meteorologist G. Harold Noyes.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 25 (AP)—The Weather Bureau today reported a tropical disturbance 300 miles southeast of Puerto Rico. The following bulletin was issued this morning:

"San. Juan advisory at 5 a. m. Eastern War Time—Tropical disturbance of small diameter increasing intensity attended by wind of 45 to 55 miles per hour is centered near latitude 14 degrees 40 minutes north and longitude 43 degrees west. Apparently moving west-northwestward 15 to 18 miles per hour. Caution advised in eastern Carribbean to west and north of present location."

Hitler Rocket Base Pounded

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—British heavy bombers attacked today "a site which appeared to be connected with the enemy-threatened use of long-distance rockets," the air ministry said.

The Germans have asserted they were preparing great 10-ton projectiles which they could hurtle across the Atlantic—an assertion discounted by most military experts.

The air ministry did not locate the site. The main force of Lancaster bombers was used to pummel the platforms in Northern France from which the Nazis have been launching one-ton robot flying bombe against England.

Barbara Quits Paying Count

LOS ANGELES, July 25—Count Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow may have gone shopping for a wife in the Woolworth 5 and 10-cent store but he got a baby doll that has paid off in millions.

And the baby doll, Barbara Hutton Grant, doesn't want to pay any more. All she wants is the affection of her 9-year-old son, Lance, by that marriage and the love of her new husband Screen Star Carey Grant.

This in substance is the plea of the beautiful Woolworth heiress who in a superior court suit here has at last revealed that she already has paid more than $3,000,000 for that ill-starred international romance and now hopes only to prevent her ex-husband from digging deeper into her $40,000,000 fortune.

Count Haugwitz-Reventlow

Miss Hutton, who once had all the shop girls gasping with envy, now wants sole custody of Lance, whom she claims the count has taken away to Canada in a new attempt to extract more millions. She charges the Danish count is not a Dane at all but of German birth and ancestry and that he is "indoctrinating her son with his own ideas of race superiority."

The Count still holds "almost hypnotic influence" over her and she avers that the Canadian trip a few weeks ago was taken for the sole purpose of wheedling another fortune for the boy's return.

Miss Hutton claims that at Reventlow's suggestion she transferred $1,477,697 to his account in 1935 and that she had to establish a trust of a similar $1,477,697 before he would allow her to get a divorce in 1938. Before he finally signed the divorce agreement, he wanted another $270,000 because of interest lost by delay, she charges.

Under terms of a separation agreement, the dime store heiress declared, Reventlow was to enjoy the income from a $1,477,000 trust fund during his life, with the principal to go to their child upon Reventlow's death.

The suit for complete custody charged that Reventlow violated the terms of the separation agreement when he took young Lance to Canada a month ago, although he was supposed to return the boy to Miss Hutton last June 30.

Rich Recluse Knew Death Near

Miss Bessie Joyce, 82-year-old recluse, found dead of malnutrition amid the grandeur of her 16-room mansion in Massachusetts ave., South End, had a permonition of death more tha na year ago, a neighborhood boy who had been her sole companion, said today.

"She was a very proud tnd very nice old lady," declared Francis Dullea, 14, of Washington st., South End. "She told me a month ago she expected to die soon."

Young Dullea said Miss Joyce was his friend for two years during which he ran errands, did chores and helped her in little ways. He said she often told him of her earlier years and proudly related how she wrapped bandages in the Spanish-American War and World War I.

The yonugster told how the aged woman showed him pre-Civil War antiques in her home and related the history of each piece. He said she never said anything about the bank books showing $6000 in deposits which police found hidden under the rugs.

"She only used two rooms, a bedroom on the first floor and the kitchen in the basement," Dullea said. "She didn't have many clothes, I guess, because she always wore the same ones when I saw her."

Neighbors said Miss Joyce boarded medical students until about 15 years ago. Her last boarder was an unidentified police sergeant who died three years ago, they said.

They said her father, Maurice, was one of the nation's leading diamond cutters and stained glass experts. They said 15 churches in Boston had windows installed by the elder Joyce.

Miss Joyce's death was discovered by police who broke into the huge house at the request of Frank Joyce of West Elm st., Wollaston, her only known survivor. Joyce said he had not heard from her in weeks before her body was found.

Dr. Ralph Dalrymple, acting police surgeon, said she had been dead at least a week. He gave malnutrition and heart trouble as the causes of death.

The first inkling that something was amiss in the Joyce home came when the Dullea boy noticed the morning papers were not taken in. He told his mother, Mrs. Virginia Dullea, and they checked hospitals in the hope of learning if anything were wrong.

William Randolph Hearst, Junior, in a series of five articles of which this is the second, describes his visit to the American sector of the Normandy battlefront.

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JUNIOR
Publisher, New York Journal-American

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN NORMANDY, July 25—Caen is about 15 miles from Bayeux. Traffic was quite heavy for the first half of the way, but then gradually thinned out as it always does when you get near the front.

The countryside here is rather flat and as we neared the town we could see tank tracks in broad wheatfields.

We passed a big airdrome at Carpiquet, about a mile to our right, the one the Canadians had such a tough struggle with. Even from that distance we could see that all the hangars were demolished or burned.

HUNS ACROSS RIVER

The Germans, we were told, were just across the river on the other side of Caen, but we could proceed down as far as the main square.

The town was pretty well banged up.

It had been bombed on D-Day and then, a few days ago, the heavies from the RAF had been over and given it another shellacking.

We stopped at a cathedral and got out.

It was strangely quiet, as oddly enough, there were no soldiers here and no trucks.

When you are this close to the front, they only move things at night.

The townspeople were walking about and we got to talking to a young French boy, thin-faced, dark-eyed and intelligent, who was wearing a poilu's helmet painted white.

He spoke rather good English which he said he had learned at school, and told us that the last Germans had left yesterday morning, "run out" as he put it.

OH WHAT THIEVES

He told us they were good soldiers but "oh what thieves."

They had taken everything—food, wine, everything—but the damage to the town had been caused mainly by our planes and artillery.

You have here the incongruous situation of Americans and British shelling and bombing towns in order to liberate them.

The boy touched on this in a wistful manner, wearing a puzzled look while he talked. Suddenly though, his face brightened and he said, "but I want you to know that you are welcome."

Just as we were thinking about leaving, our artillery opened up behind us.

We piled into that jeep and covered the distance from Caen to Bayeux in record time, had our dinner with a little wine on the side and got back to our sleeping bags in the attic about 1 o'clock.

On Bastille Day, we went back, expecting to see a gay celebration similar to that being held in every other liberated Normandy town that day.

SHELL HIT CATHEDRAL

Instead, the streets were completely deserted but the square in front of the Cathedral Leglise Saint Etienne was swarming with thousands of townspeople and what remained of their personal belongings.

It turned out that the Germans had been shelling the town day and night since we had last been there, the climax coming when a shell had landed in the cathedral where hundreds had taken shelter, killing 11 persons.

Beneath a large flag of France, with the Cross of Lorraine, stood a British truck with loudspeakers and a voice coming out of it telling the people in French to be calm and to form in groups in different parts of the square where troops and trucks were ready to evacuate them and their possessions.

RITA HAYWORTH WELLES

17 Babies? Not For Orson's Rita

Her husband, Film Producer-Actor Orson Welles, told her he'd like to have that many, but she hastened to explain:

"You know Orson — he always has to exaggerate a little. Three or four would be enough for me."

The comely screen actress is expecting her first child in December.

"I do so much hope it's a boy," she said. "And if it is, I want him to look just like his daddy—in fact, be another Orson Welles.

"Of course, if it's a girl, I won't complain. But if it is! I most assuredly don't want her to grow up to be a dancer, as I did.

"You know, screen dancing is a lot harder work than digging ditches.

"The only consolation, however, is that it yays off a little better."

THIRD DISCARD—Screen Actress Lola Lane today disclosed that she was planning to divorce her third husband, Broker Henry Clay Dunham, on mental cruelty charges in Los Angeles. They were wed in 1941. Previous mates: Actor Lew Ayres and Film Director Alexander Hall.

Many Vets Seeking New G. I. Bill Loans

The loan provision under the "G. I." Bill of Rights, recently enacted into law, which allows a discharged serviceman to borrow up to $2000, is proving the most popular phase of new legislation, it was revealed today at the Veterans' Bureau, Federal building.

Ted Muhlkern, chief of the contact unit, Veterans' Bureau, declared that hundreds of telephone calls are being received daily and every mail brings scores of letters seeking information on application for the government guaranteed loans.

Muhlkern declared, however, the local bureau is awaiting word from Washington as to the method of handling applications.

"Veteran Administration leaders in Washington are working at top speed setting up the necessary machinery, he said.

"Word has been received that the finance department of the bureau will handle the loan applications. We hope to be able to have applications ready and a special section set up within a short time."

Mulhkern disclosed that hundreds of younger men discharged from service, under 25 years of age at time of induction or enlistment, are rapidly taking advantage of the educational benefits of the World War II veterans bill.

Harold Kiley, vocational rehabilitation officer, is in charge of the program which allows these men to complete their school or college education at government expense.

Japan Offers Alibi For Fleet Hideaway

By the Associated Press

Several United States task forces, "with powerful groups of aircraft carriers as the mainstay," are maneuvering in the waters of the Marianas, some 1500 miles from Tokyo, and the "time is not yet ripe for our fleet to come out and attack the enemy," the Tokyo radio asserted today.

The broadcast by Domei, official Japanese news agency, quoted the naval commentator Masanori Ito as saying:

"Strategically speaking, the time to deliver the coup de grace to the enemy has not yet arrived:

ADMITS AIR HANDICAP

Later, he asserted:

"Undoubtedly, our combined fleet is far inferior to the enemy's as far as aircraft strength is concerned. The fleet which loses command of the air is destined for defeat and immediate rout from the scene of battle."

Ito said the factors for "complete victory in a naval battle" were superior fleet strength, supplemental power needed to follow up the battle, and geographic considerations, as well as fighting technique and morale.

"Our combined fleet," Ito asserted in the Tokyo broadcast, "acting on the basis of cool reasoning and certainty, will not come out until an exhaustive study of the above factors has been completed."

PLAN WON IN 1905

The broadcast seemed to suggest that the fleet might remain in refuge of home waters near the protection of land batteries and land-based planes until, perhaps, the American fleet struck directly at Japan.

It was this policy of deliberately choosing his place for battle which afforded Admiral Togo the opportunity for his annihilating victory over the Russian fleet in the battle of Tsushima on May 27, 1905.

Stop Coddling Italians, Legion Official Demands

Unless America stops coddling former Italian prisoners of war our returning soldiers, many of whose comrades died before Italian guns, well may accuse the folks at home of not keeping faith.

This is the challenge of Coleman C. Curran, adjutant of the State Department of the American Legion, in adding another voice to the growing demand that special parties for these former prisoners be stopped and that they revert to the status of prisoners of war.

"The time to stop this nonsense is right now," Curran said in commenting on the charge by Veterans of Foreign Wars that women of the VFW auxiliary went to Camp Myles Standish, Taunton, to entertain wounded American boys only to have the Army trot out a batch of Italians.

MUST STOP PAMPERING

Curran added that Legion posts throughout the state had prepared resolutions to be presented next month at the state convention, when it will be demanded that "pampering and wining and dining of our former enemies be stopped." Similar action has been promised by the VFW.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Marion Grant of Taunton, state VFW auxiliary hospital chairman, called a meeting for tomorrow night at Tremont Temple to decide on whether more entertainment be furnished for anyone save wounded American boys.

Mrs. Grant, whose husband served in the last war and now is in the Navy once more, said her organization had spent $25,000 in entertainment work but from now on they want to know what the money is going for.

She further charged that former Italian prisoners at Camp Myles Standish have taunted wounded American boys and other Americans who are convalescing. She said she had proof that prisoners, using their native Italian, had told American boys, who now have recovered from wounds, they were "fools" to obey orders to wash hospital windows.

Actress Sues Over Lingerie 'Pin-Ups'

HOLLYWOOD, July 25—When another actress' name was placed on postcard "pin-up" photographs of her and sent, without her knowledge or consent, to American soldiers everywhere, her career was jeopardized, Film Actress Lorraine Miller charged in a $50,000 damage suit on file in superior court today against Samuel Goldwyn, the Photo Specialty Co., and others.

Miss Miller charges she was greatly embarrassed when, under her alluring likeness on the postcards, appeared the name of Diana Mumby, another actress, and the notation "Samuel Goldwyn's most cuddlesome blonde."

Diana Mumby

Such confusion resulted, she alleges, that there is question today in the minds of many whether she is Lorraine Miller or Diana Mumby. And Miss Miller is especially upset because the photo was such a good one of her. It showed her in very brief lingerie, elbow length gloves, and slippers, seated on a white bearskin rug.

Lorraine, who is now under contract to M-G-M, said the "pin-up" pose was taken when she worked for Goldwyn, shortly before she left to go to the rival studio. The postcard photo was made last Dec. 15 and placed on sale to brighten the Christmas holidays of G. I. Joes, her suit states.

Tube Collapses, Boy, 13, Drowns

SOUTH DARTMOUTH, July 25—A collapsing automobile tube was blamed today for the drowning of 13-year-old William R. Wilcox, the second tragedy victim in the Wilcox family within a year.

He is the brother of Shirley Wilcox, 15, who last fall was killed in her home in North Dartmouth by her brother-in-law, Albert Lessa. Lessa now is serving a 15-to-20-year term for manslaughter in her shotgun death.

Link Martin Death To Killing of Duffy

Cambridge detectives today linked last week's killing of Yapran Alajajian, better known as Pepper Martin, former boxer and gambler, with the unsolved slaying of Arthur Duffy, notorious jewel thief, whose bullet-riddled body was found sprawled beside a Cambridge road last January.

Lt. Patrick F. Ready, Cambridge chief inspector, declared today both men were pumped full of lead in the same ruthless fashion and that evidence indicated each was slain by an old type .32-caliber revolver.

TWO WERE ACQUAINTED

Ready, who already has conferred with Boston police investigating the Martin killing outside a Back Bay garage early last Tuesday morning, said that both departments were investigating the possibility that the former boxer was slain either in a "payoff" on the Duffy murder or that both murders were committed by a ruthless killer hired by the same gang.

Investigation has proved that Duffy and Martin were acquainted and had been in one another's company at various times.

Ready planned to question numerous persons quizzed in the early investigation of the Duffy slaying last winter in the possibility that the jewel thief may have contacted Martin or made an effort to communicate with him during the few days he was staying at the Cambridge hotel from which he walked to his death last Jan. 16.

REVOLVER FOUND

Ready also has turned over to state ballistic experts an old type .32-calibre revolver, found on a bathing beach at Jerry's Pit in North Cambridge by a 13-year-old boy.

The pit is only a short distance from the spot on Blanchard rd., where Duffy's body was found. Ready estimated that the gun easily could have been tossed from an auto to the pit and lain unnoticed until the boy stumbled over it yesterday.

Also being investigated, Ready said, was an unsuccessful effort by Martin several days before his death to obtain a reduction in bail for one Reuben Garfield, alias Jack Ellison, held as a fugitive from justice in Los Angeles.

Ready has asked Los Angeles police, to whom Garfield was handed over several days ago, to question him concerning both Martin and Duffy.

Garfield was wanted on the west coast on a robbery charge and Cambridge investigators, recalling Duffy's nationwide activities as a jewel thief, believe the prisoner may be able to furnish them with evidence to help in solving the Duffy killing.

An elderly Roxbury couple were injured critically today when their auto, out of control after the husband fainted at the wheel, according to police, crashed into a pole in Columbia rd., near Wheelock ave., Dorchester.

City Hospital attaches said the husband, Fred Crandall, 70, of Clifton st., Roxbury, had suffered concussion of the brain and facial lacerations while his wife, Mary, also 70, had a fractured left leg, facial lacerations and concussion.

Police said the Crandall car was inbound on Columbia rd., when the accident occurred. The car, out of control, bounced over the trolley reservation which divides the thoroughfare, snapping off an Edison Co. pole on the opposite side of the street.

Crandall had retired July 1 as foreman of the Boston Elevated machine shop in Everett.

Kaiser Joins Gypsum Firm In Huge Postwar Program

By WALTER WARREN

OAKLAND, Cal., July 25 (AP)—Henry Kaiser went into a new venture today—gypsum products, used in house construction.

Kaiser and Sam A. Perkins, president of Standard Gypsum Co., announced they had formed a partnership. The gypsum firm has vast western deposits from the gulf of California to Alaska.

The Kaiser management will establish and manage production and manufacturing facilities for plaster and wallboard, as well as gypsum agricultural products.

Along with wallboard, Kaiser intends to produce steel-framed prefabricated sections of houses, and plastic cement, similar to stucco, for exteriors. The agreement, Kaiser said, commits his company to "spend millions" of private funds for providing building materials for postwar industry, both in the West and in the Orient.

Kaiser will take over San Marcos island in the Gulf of California, producution properties in Nevada and Washington and plants at Long Beach and Seattle. He will establish a plant at a site in the San Francisco bay area for production of wallboard, plastic cement and prefabricated sections.

Gadget Made by Ex-Lawyer Ends Hellcat Landing Fire

By ELMONT WAITE

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP, CENTRAL PACIFIC, July 25 (AP)—Terrifying streams of .50 Calibre machinegun bullets were streaking the length of the flight deck. Ole Pace—like scores of others—was scrambling frantically down to the safety of a catwalk below the edge of the deck.

A badly-scared seaman jumped blindly toward the same sheltered spot—and landed astride Ole's neck, yelling:

"Divebombers Divebombers"

Ole (Lt. jg O. B. Pace, 29, ex-lawyer and family-man from Lacon, Ill.) had to bate the seaman into the bulkhead a couple of times to shut him up.

The bullets were not coming from enemy bombers. They were coming from one of our own Hellcat fighters planes which had landed on the carrier with its gun switches inadventently left on. The jolt caused the pilot to squeeze the trigger.

It had happened before, many times. Ole thought it ought to stop.

So Ole and Lt. (j.g.) Robert Henry Duklauer, 24, (52 Frederick pl., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.) also a gunnery expert, got their heads together. They used 18 inches of wire, changed one switch, and now the Hellcat can't do that any more.

This is the way most of our aircraft improvements are made, a harried pilot or deck officer, frantically dodging disaster, decides "this has got to stop!" He stops it with some simple, homemade gadget. Soon the whole fleet is using it.

Duklauer has left this fighter squadron. Pace also is returning to the United States for home leave and reassignment. But their foolproof gadget is already installed on all fighter planes on this carrier and its use is spreading.

Pope Ready for Any Plan to End War

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—High church officials said today that Pope Pius was desirous of entertaining proposals to bring the war to an end.

It was pointed out, however, that such proposals must be initiated formally by one of the belligerent governments. And since the United Nations are known not to have made any such advances, the move must come from the German Ambassador to the Holy See, Baron Ernst von Weizsacker.

Weizsacker was reported to have conferred on Saturday with two assistant secretaries of state of the Vatican.

Under terms of the Concordat of 1929, the Vatican agreed to act as intermediary in international affairs only at the request of the interested parties.

The Pope's interest in bringing an end to the war was indicated by three recent developments:

1. His address of June 2 to the College of Cardinals in Rome on the dangers of fighting a war through to unconditional surrender.

2. The visit to the Vatican of Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, of New York, whose trip to Rome, it was learned today, was made at the invitation of the Pope. Incidentally, Spellman conferred with President Roosevelt before leaving this country.

3. The conferences of the German Ambassador with the Vatican secretaries of state. The Pope's interest in preserving contact with the German government was demonstrated last month when the Vatican interceded with the State Department to bring about the release of Ambassador Weizsacker, when he had been taken prisoner by the Fifth Army as they advanced into Rome.

Army Dogs Have New Role As Trained Mine Detectors

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The Army has found a new use for its dogs—they are mine detectors.

The non-metallic mines, which cannot be located by mechanical devices, are a specialty of these highly trained "M-dogs," the Army disclosed today, but they find others, too—metallic mines, tripwires and booby traps.

Working on a six-foot lead, the animals locate mine fields, lead the way around them, or point a safe path through them. As soon as the dogs locate the buried or concealed explosive devices, the mines are removed or deactivated, and the cleared path is marked with tape.

Training methods cannot be disclosed, but they develop to a high degree the natural ability of dogs to discover buried objects. The quartermaster corps developed the method.

"They have found and indicated to their masters the presence of mines buried for weeks," the Army said. "When trained, the dog cannot be induced to advance over any type mine or trap."

Dogs of different breeds are used. All are of medium size, weighing 45 to 65 pounds, and are selected on the basis of intelligence, willingness to work, quiet nature and indifference to distractions. The last is important.

Poland Promises Equality for Jews

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, July 25 (AP)—Demanding the inclusion in post-war Poland of all of East Prussia, most of Pomerania and other portions of eastern Germany, the Soviet-sponsored National Council of Poland has declared itself "the sole lawful source of authority in Poland" and termed the Polish government in London an "impostrous" and "incompetent authority."

The announcement of the post war aims of the council and establishment of a Polish Committee of National Liberation as the organ of executive power was interpreted here to mean that so far as the Russian government was concerned the Polish government-in-exile in London no longer represents Poland.

In a manifesto released yesterday but dated at Chelm, Poland, July 22—the day the city was liberated from the Germans by the Red Army—the council said the "basic principle" of Poland's post war foreign policy would be "a firm alliance with our direct neighbors, with the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia" and that the "blood" shed in joint battles against German aggression will further consolidate our friendship and strengthen our alliance with Great Britain and the United States."

Jews, the manifesto said, "will be insured new, normal conditions for existence, also legal and actual equality."

The manifesto further declared that the council would strive also "to preserve traditional friendship and alliance with a revived France and to co-operate with all democratic countries of the world."

German property and "lands of the traitors of the people will be confiscated" under the proposed program.

Britain's King At Italian Front

8 WITH THE KING'S PARTY IN ITALY, July 25 (INS)—King George VI of Britain was in Italy today for a tour of the Allied Fifth and Eighth Army battlefronts. It is his first visit to Italy since 1930.

The King arrived Sunday at an airport under the shadow of Mt. Vesuvius aboard a British bomber after a three-hour stopover in North Africa. He plans to visit units of the Royal Navy and the Royal Air Force as well as dominion units and other Allied forces.

The King's party included Sir Eric Mirville, his personal secretary; Sir Piers Legh, the King's equity captain; Capt. E. N. Fielden, of the King's flight, his personal bodyguard and two sergeant valets.

The British monarch appeared to be in exceptionally good health and posed for photographers patiently.

He was driven through the bomb-pocked streets of Naples, where he was seen by many British tommies who later commented on seeing the ruler of the empire "riding right down main street.

Hub Man Directs Normandy Planes

By HUCK FINNEGAN

NORMANDY—Pilot of the Ninth Air Force Service command plane that brought us to the landing strip in Normandy, was Lt. W. J. Walsh, a Pennsylvanian. Navigator was Lt. Huntley, mentioned before. The day was bright and clear, and as the plane reached the channel, the sun's rays danced on the waters. It was difficult to associate war with this venture; easier to think of Charlie Toth and Gertrude Ederle swimming this historic expanse.

Of a sudden, however, shipping appeared below us—here and there a Mustang or Thunderbolt. Those who worried at the start about lack of fighter escort, felt relieved.

And now the coast of Normandy looms . . . spiked with poles for miles inland, poles the Germans hoped would impale our paratroopers . . . bomb craters by the hundred, a grim reminder of D-Day . . . villages flooded by the Nazis still inundated . . . cattle grazing on the lush lawns amidst ruins of towns . . . motor convoys moving toward the front . . burning buildings, souvenir of the Nazis' night visits . . . Cherbourg is to the right, and the plane passes so close to Carentan we can see it . . . So on to landing strip (censored) scene of a gory battle on D-Day, for here it was that the German Panzer unit on maneuvers stumbled on our men landing on the beachhead, hid in both sides of the ravine and moved down wave upon wave . . . Cemetery No. 1, only a quarter-mile beyond, is a grim reminder of June 6. Wonder is that the boys could establish a toe-hold at all.

HUMS WITH ACTIVITY

The airstrip is humming with activity. Planes come and go every few minutes. Here's one with a load of blood plasma for the wounded, and the little nurse aboard is 2 Lt. Rose Potash, 1810 Commonwealth ave. Rose's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Potash, live at 95 Providence st., Worcester, but she made her home with her sister, Mrs. David Kravetz, while training at Beth Israel. She was the first nurse from her squadron to reach Normandy, having arrived as early as D-7. "I met 2 Lt. Patricia Du Pont of Pawtucket, R. I., here the same day," she said. "She came on another plane." Miss Potash has been in the Army 2½ years.

Over in the control tower is a tallish chap with "Bill" painted on his jacket, and "Boston" on up-turned peak of cap. He is Bill Needleman, 29, of 153 Intervale st., Roxbury, who helps control the traffic on the most important air strip in France.

HAND-MADE JOB

Bill graduated from English High in '32, ran his own radio shop on Salem st., No. End. He is one of four uniformed sons of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Needleman. The others are: Robert, 32, in England; Joseph, 31, Navy; and Stanley, 19, who is at Ft. Dix.

"This whole job is hand-made," Bill said of the tower. The glass dome was formerly the nose of a B-26. Plane Mary Jo leaves the strip at 11:15 and Bill jots it down. Traffic is heavy, and Bill hasn't much time to chin. "Send my best regards to the folks, will you?" he asks. "Tell them I'm well and happy, and that I'm having fun here." He looked healthy.

Now over to the planes where the wounded are being placed aboard. Ambulances are backed up carefully to within six feet of the plane door. Strong-armed medics, four to the stretcher, lift them gently into the plane where more strong arms lash stretcher to side of plane, so that they will ride smoothly. Captains, majors, yea, even a general is seen helping with the wounded. These were no play-boys basking in Miami's sun. These were boys who had met the enemy and given their all.

NO PLACE FOR NURSES

"We vacuated thousands of wounded by air alone between D-Day and July 11," a captain explained. "Our record is 640 for a single day." Think of the shuttle service that is required with 24 wounded to a plane. "One day, by boat and air, we sent 838 back to England from this one strip. We're proud of that record."

There are no nurses stationed in this air evacuation hospital. It is no place for nurses with the Nazis coming over every night, despite the fact that the Red Crosses painted on the ground are plainly visible at 3000 feet in the air. "Few of the wounded die here," the captain went on. "Of the first thousands we handled there were only 15 fatalities. We move them fast, according to the seriousness of their wounds. We've had men wounded here in the morning, and in England the same afternoon."

This was life in the raw, with everybody living in tents or underground. Latrines were holes in the ground enclosed by flapping canvas. "Advanced Powder Room, for Ladies Only" read a sign on a little tent, neatly camouflaged.

We waded through the poppies and watched planes unload bundles of blankets. "We use from 1400 to 2000 new blankets every day," the captain said. He led the way through the various tents on the company streets, all occupied by wounded. Sleeping soundly was Corp. Leonard Sparrow, 652 Washington st., Dorchester. He was a member of a tank battalion, and was suffering from a foot infection. He had just been brought in from St. Lo.

"There are some German prisoners on the other side of the hospital," said the captain. "Want to see them?"

Ja wohl.

"ALL-BRAN WORKED WONDERS FOR ME!"

Says Constipation Sufferer

There's real hope for common constipation sufferers in this unsolicited letter!

"Thanks for what KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has done for me. I'm 76 years old. Had been taking pills and salts almost every night. 6 weeks ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Soon I had regular movements without any trouble. I can't praise ALL-BRAN enough. It sure works wonders for me." Mr. E. C. Look, Box 114, Fairbury, Ill.

How can such amazing results for thousands be explained? Scientists say it's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulosic" elements, lack of which in the diet is a common cause of constipation. They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

BOSTON

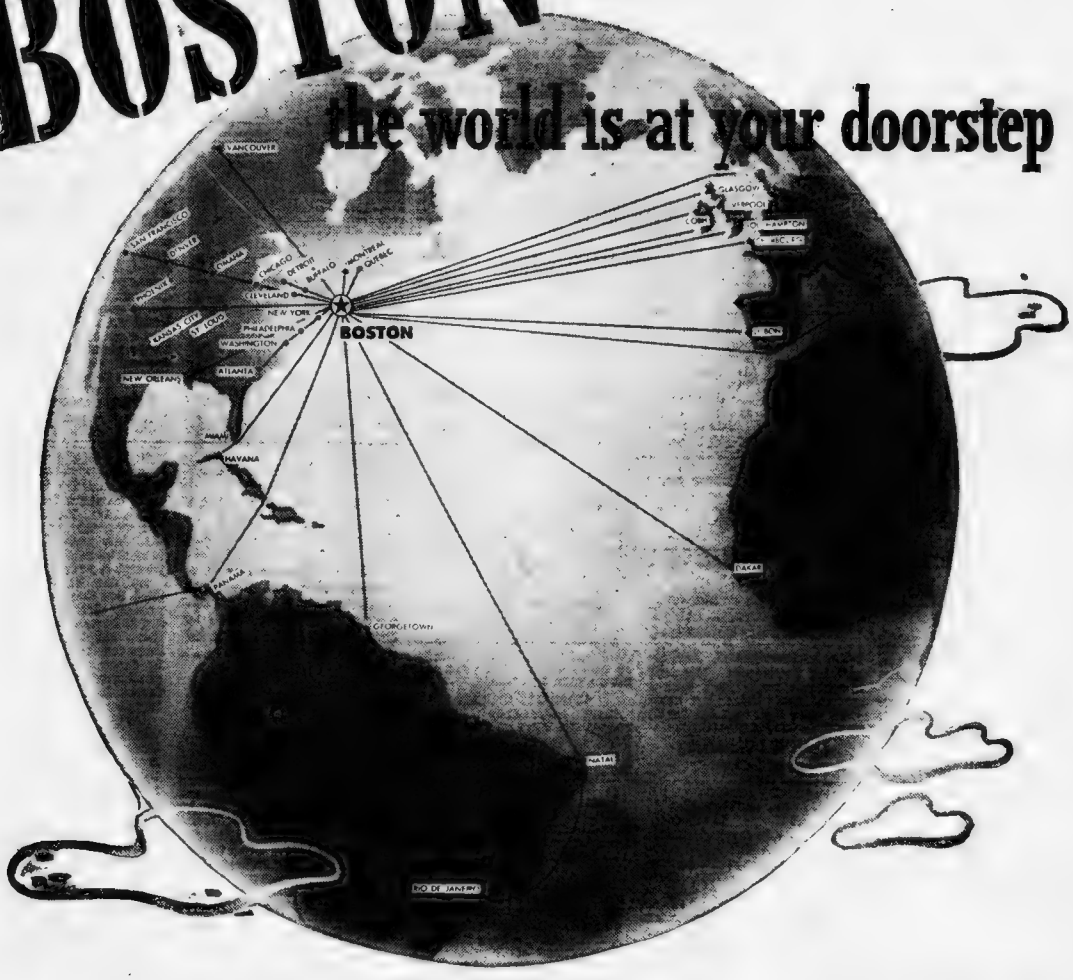
the world is at your doorstep



TO the east and south, broad sea and air lanes leading to the waiting markets of Europe, South America, and Africa present both a challenge and a promise to the people of Boston—unequalled since the days of the clipper ships.

The railroads, airlines, and highway transport that link Boston with the great industrial and agricultural centers of America are preparing to help meet this challenge.

Boston must prepare to regain its rightful and traditional place as a world port and attract the freight and passenger ships plying the sea lanes of the world.

Modernization of its natural port is one of Boston's most important needs. In addition to being served by modern rail, air, and highway transportation, the port should be so well equipped and so well manned that no shipping, whether foreign or domestic, can afford to pass it by.

Boston, two hundred miles nearer Europe than any other major American city, should have an airport that is second to none—equipped to secure its full share of the airborne commerce of the world.

Boston, with its many historical and recreational attractions, should continue to be the center for visitors to New England in all seasons. Its transportation services are the channels through which thousands of people will be attracted to Boston. All efforts to attract visitors should have the cooperation and support of Boston and its people.

Unified local rapid transit in metropolitan Boston is of primary importance for the continued development of this area. This subject is now being actively studied by several groups, including a legislative commission.

A new era of prosperity looms on the postwar horizon for Boston, its people and its industries. Truly the world is at our doorstep. Shall we all accept the challenge?

Beauty — Magic Disc Erases Hair — Fashion

IF YOUR LEGS are full of pores and bumps because you've subscribed to an old-fashioned method of cleaning them of unwanted hair . . . try a new-formulated disc for hedge-growth removal. Lovely Marie McDonald poses.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IT'S ALWAYS BEEN a mystery to us . . . in this modern day and age of advanced cosmetic science . . . why some girls persist in going about with fuzzed arms and legs . . . totally indifferent to their care and conditioning . . . completely unmindful of the need of below-the-skirt-hem attractiveness. Or why a lovely lady will be content to sport a growth on her upper lip . . . or finger away nervously at a chin stubble . . . knowing full well how detrimental the hair is to her feminine appeal.

We can forgive a gal if Nature didn't endow her with the most perfectly chiseled features . . . but no gal is entitled to leniency who permits grass-covered legs and arms to go unnoticed or unattended . . . when a simple disc of specially treated pumice stone will do the trick in a jiffy.

And, while we're in this critical mood . . . let's not forget to follow up this easy and simple hair removal process with a softening skin lotion . . . that assists in conditioning the skin. If your chin and upper lip harbor errant strands . . . a smaller disc specifically formulated for facial use . . . will remove the superfluous hair quicker than it takes me to tell you about it.

CONSULTANT HERE THIS WEEK

This rosey-hued disc comes in two sizes. The large size is for the legs and arms. The smaller disc is for the face. Both are harmless . . . effective and do a grand job. Both have made cosmetic history. Only six quick rotations over the skin in one direction . . . followed by a similar number in the opposite direction . . . are necessary.

A consultant for the house sponsoring this hair removal disc is in town this week and will demonstrate before your eyes its harmless goodness and instant aid to beauty.

Where to see and speak with this expert and for the name of this instant hair removing disc, both for the arms, legs and face, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Many 'No-Point' Foods Rich in Needed Vitamins

By MARTHA LEE

DO YOU REMEMBER when you used to play "hide-the-button"—how you would scurry into corners, behind tables and under chairs, only to find that the button had been right out in the open all the time? And why hadn't you thought to look there? Because it was too obvious.

By the same token, your present-day food shopping is so taken up with hunting for the hard-to-find foods or worrying over valuable ration points that you've failed to discover how many "best things in life" are ration-free.

Now discovering the obvious is more than just a game. It's a way of helping your grocer feed the boys at the front. It's a "no-point" low-point share-the-food plan.

What if butter has gone to war? Certainly it's a wonderful source of vitamin A, but so are the green leafy vegetables like kale, spinach, carrots and escarole. And what's more, they've "no-point" value.

Yes, butter is a good source of energy-giving fat. But so is peanut butter. And, in addition, it's packed with body-building protein. Pound for pound, peanut butter is as rich in protein as beef.

"NO-POINT" SUGGESTIONS

Here's a delightful way to combine the "necessarys." Try it with your luncheon or dinner tomato juice. Slice large carrots the long way. Chill to a crunchy crispness and spread with peanut butter. Good? Or, if you've some butter to spare—try peanut butter crisps. Mix equal parts of butter (fortified margarine will do) and peanut butter. Spread on crackers and pop into the oven for a toasty brown turn. It's a mouth-watering treat for both family and guests.

And these are only a few of the "no-point" discoveries to delight your family and friends. Ask your grocer for no-point or low-point food features, and help win the Food Fight for Freedom.

PEANUT RICE LOAF

2 cup peanut butter
2 cup medium white sauce
3 cups cooked rice

2 cups tomato sauce

Combine peanut butter with white sauce and blend. Add remaining ingredients. Mix and shape into loaf. Pack into a greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

PEANUT DUMPLINGS

2 tbsp. peanut butter
1 cup sifted flour
2 tsp. of baking powder
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup milk ½ tsp. salt

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in peanut butter and margarine. Add milk, stirring quickly to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls on top of soup or stew. Cover tightly and steam 12 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 12 small dumplings.

PEANUT BUTTER DETTY

6 tbsp. peanut butter
4 tbsp. butter or margarine
6 slices bread 2 cups milk
½ tsp. salt 2 eggs

Service Queries

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

The censor in my husband's unit is a friend of his, and often he'd like to write personal things home, but doesn't like his friend to read the letters. Is there any way this can be avoided? (Mrs.) M. B. K.

I have been informed that a "blue envelope" is issued to men overseas, at their request, when they want to discuss private matters in their letters home. The "blue envelopes" are passed through the base censor instead of the unit censor.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday — It was wonderful to get up to the country again and to find all the children at home and feel that sense which comes to one nowhere else in the world but on returning to one's own countryside.

On the plane, a young officer returning from the West Coast imparted to me his feeling about the East, and ended with: "It's just home, I guess—better than any place in the world." Most of us will say the same on returning to the spot where we have our roots.

Mmé. Genevieve Tabouis came up from New York city to lunch with us on Saturday. In the afternoon I attended the Roosevelt Home Club meeting. The past presidents of the club all spoke; the crowd was a mixed crowd, older people and a few young people and a great many children. To my surprise the young ones, on the whole, behaved well. Perhaps they knew that sooner or later they would have a chance to get at some of the soft drinks that stood in cases by the side of the lawn.

* *

IN THE EVENING I went to a dance in our Town Hall at Hyde Park, and was glad to find that they are really reviving the old square dances. The man who did the calling was excellent, and the band, which I think consisted largely of local talent, did well. The influx of new people in the neighborhood has probably brought us some who might not have been present a year or two ago.

No one knew the Virginia Reel, but they tell me that the younger children are now learning it in school. Of course, all these old country dances are more fun for the young and old to dance together. I think a good mixture of old and new dances draws a whole community together very well.

On Sunday we all had a picnic which the young people managed themselves. Afterwards they rested rather reluctantly under the trees while I read aloud to them. I think it was a good deal to ask of them, because the flies and insects discovered us—or rather, the crumbs of food we had scattered about—and before long we were their victims.

Girl Leaves Her Own Tip

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a dance where there are two checkrooms that are adjoining, one for the girls and one for the men, does the girl leave the tip for the checkroom attendant, or should her escort tip both attendants?

R. M.

The girl gives the tip to the checkroom attendant. Usually in the ladies' checkroom there is a plate on which the tip is to be put.

Flare Skirts for Teen Age

By BETTINA BEDWELL

TEEN-AGE girls are going to get one of the most sophisticated of the styles in their department of dress. They are to have back-flare skirts, which come as the lower half of Summer suits, and are being worked up for Fall, too.

One of these young suits is sketched. It's a white shark-skin suit with a bolero jacket having short sleeves and a collarless but revere-adorned neckline. The skirt is straight in front but has an impudent flare at the back, with a bustle suggested in the bow.

The sleeveless blouse is made of Du Pont rayon jersey which looks just like wool, and is very stunning. It is vivid pink with white stripes, and the neckline is pleated at the front to soften the effect.

4-H Clubs Join Ragweed Fight

Tremendous weight of the 4-H Clubs of Massachusetts is being thrown into the Junior Victory Army's campaign to make this year's battle against ragweed the most effective in years.

First of these to announce a fight to the finish on this foe of hay fever sufferers is garden club of Arlington, directed by H. E. Keenan, 801 Mass. ave., leader of the local 4-H Club.

The 12 boys of this club have a 5000-sq. ft. garden and propose to wage unrelenting war on ragweed in its vicinity.

Throughout New England boys and girls are rallying to the battle. They include the 60,000 children, including many JVA members, who use Boston's playgrounds, beaches and parks, and who are being mobilized by William M. "Bill" Mullen, city recreation director.

Director Mullen says all his supervisors will encourage boys and girls to keep a sharp lookout for ragweed and destroy it whenever and wherever it is found.

Every boy and girl can help in this invasion and annihilation of the enemy's stronghold. First get the help of an adult to learn what ragweed looks like. Then pull it up by the roots and stamp it out. Do it NOW before it blooms and spreads its pollen to the wretched misery of hay fever sufferers.

Your activity now may keep you from being a victim later on.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Heroes' Ribbons Prizes in Drive

"Service" ribbons, which they received from noted war heroes, at exercises in Roslindale and the South End, today were the prized possessions of hundreds of Boston's boy and girl "paper troopers," who aided the war effort by helping to establish a new record in July collections of waste paper.

At the George Conley schoolyard in Roslindale, more than 30 youngsters received their ribbons from Roslindale's outstanding air ace, Lt. William Dacko of Metropolitan ave., pilot of a Flying Fortress with 41 missions over Italy and Germany to his credit. He flew in the first shuttle mission to Russia and wears the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters.

Mrs. Florence Early, playground director, had charge of the exercises in which the children took prominent parts. The feature of the ceremonies was the awarding of a special citation to 5-year-old Theresa Tattaro, Boston's youngest and most successful paper trooper.

Similar exercises were held at the Franklin School playground, Hanson st., South End, where 150 children from the Franklin, Rice, Williams and Bates School districts received their service awards. Mrs. Raymond Saquet, playground director, was in charge.

Today at 3 p. m., in East Boston, 250 paper troopers of the district will receive their service ribbons from T-Sgt. Frank A. Merlino, Flying Fortress radioman just returned after 29 missions over Germany. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Merlino of Orient ave., East Boston, and has the DFC, Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and Purple Heart.

Democratic Fights Top Parade Today

By The Associated Press

Two Southern Democratic primaries lead today's political parade.

In South Carolina, the senator E. D. "Cotton Ed" Smith is running for renomination against Gov. Olin D. Johnston, who says the war requires backing the Roosevelt Administration, and these other candidates: Atty. Gen John M. Daniel, Augustus S. Merrumon of Sumter and Dr. Carl B. Epps, Sumter surgeon.

In Arkansas, the Senate's only woman member, Hattie Caraway, runs into opposition on her renomination try from Rep. J. W. Fulbright, author of the "last peace" resolution in the U. S. House; Gov. Homer Adkins; oilman T. H. Barton of El Dorado, and J. Rosser Venable of Little Rock.

Negro sources reported that qualified Negroes are prepared to vote in all Arkansas counties. But Sec. Harvey G. Combs of the Democratic state committee said he doubted that many could qualify under a new rule requiring a showing of party loyalty. Negroes voted in Texas' Democratic primary Saturday.

SPIRIT OF VICTORY

Other political news in brief:

Aides of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said at Albany, N. Y., that the Republican nominee will give special attention to farm and other problems of the midwest in connection with the meeting of Republican governors at St. Louis, Aug. 2-3. He plans to talk over these and other matters with his running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, at Albany tomorrow.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman, said that he has found "more enthusiasm, co-operation and spirit of victory in the party than there has been in a generation."

Brownell, mentioning no names, said that in control of the Democrats are "the bosses of the corrupt big city machines and the radical left wingers who are closer to Communism than to any other political philosophy."

Senator Harry S. Truman, the Democrats' choice for Vice-President, said at Kansas City that he would return to Washington after Aug. 1 "ready to campaign wherever and wherever the President wants me to."

What About Pearl Harbor?

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, according to his acceptance speech, asks a SIXTEEN-YEAR GRANT OF POWER from the American people on the grounds of a palpable fiction—that he alone "saw the danger from abroad" and "met it head-on."

WHAT ABOUT PEARL HARBOR?

The American people have a particularly vivid memory of the manner in which this nation was plunged into war.

The "danger from abroad" which finally brought America into the war was that culminating in the Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor.

If President Roosevelt "saw" this danger, he was singularly unimpressed by it and unprepared to meet it.

Instead of meeting this danger "head-on," he met it like a sitting duck.

The Japanese caught almost the whole of the American fleet immobilized at Pearl Harbor, when it should have been dispersed in readiness for the attack WE HAD BEEN AMPLY FOREWARNED WAS COMING.

THE JAPANESE destroyed or crippled much of the American fleet—far beyond their own hopes or expectations.

If the Japanese had ever dreamed that they could catch the Americans so flat-footed and render them so helpless, they could have occupied the Hawaiian Islands and had the entire Pacific coast of the United States under aerial bombardment.

That was the full visitation upon us of the danger which had been brewing abroad—not for mere weeks or months, but FOR YEARS.

If President Roosevelt foresaw it and understood it, why did he let it come upon us with such crushing force?

The American people know we did not meet this great danger head-on.

We met it helplessly and expensively.

It left us, in fact, so nearly flat on our backs that actual and devastating and overwhelming defeat of the United States was threatened in the very first day of an undeclared war.

That is the record on which Mr. Roosevelt is compelled to stand in his self-assumed role as an all-seeing and all-wise prophet and protector of his country.

THE PLAIN TRUTH is that President Roosevelt was everywhere inviting dangers from abroad and often was more than meeting them head-on.

In spite of the fact that he had pledged himself in the 1940 presidential campaign against involvement in any foreign war, he had opened the coffers of our national wealth and the reservoirs of our national production to belligerent nations in the European war, and had even ENGAGED OUR INADEQUATE ARMED FORCES IN THAT WAR.

If this is the record upon which Mr. Roosevelt wants to stand, the American people should take him at his word.

Let the American people carefully consider, and calmly and wisely decide, if FOUR MORE YEARS OF POWER can safely rest in such hands—the four more years of power which will raise the ominous spectre of THE PERMANENT POWER we were warned against by Washington and Jefferson.

It is not inexperienced leadership we have as the alternative to the Roosevelt New Deal in this election, but tried and trusted AMERICAN leadership, conscious of its American duty and competent to perform it.

Washington Scene . . By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, July 25—The only reason I am not half sick with worry today is that I have just been comforted by former Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Mr. Farley is a great comfort to me and I sometimes wish he could be as much to President Roosevelt. But Mr. Farley has so many demands upon his sympathy and understanding these days that he does not have enough left over to spray around 1600 Pennsylvania ave.

Anyway, it is doubtful whether he could get within comforting distance of the President. I have a distinct feeling that if he went up to the White House gate and said: "I wish to go in and comfort that man!" the secret service agent on duty would ask:

"What with—a sockful of wet cement?"

HOWEVER THIS MAY BE, I was in a state of extreme disquiet when I ran into Mr. Farley. The meeting was quite accidental. I had only been waiting to waylay him five hours.

With his usual sensitivity he guessed something was wrong.

"Why are you so distraught—or maybe I mean distrait?" he asked.

"You mean distraught," I said. "It means to be distracted, which I bloody well am. Distrait means to be absent-minded."

"Thank you," said Mr. Farley. "I will cancel my courses at night school and just listen to you from now on."

I told Mr. Farley this was no time to jest; that I was so unbalanced by it all there was talk of providing me with a flywheel. He agreed it would undoubtedly be becoming, and added:

"What is this horrid thing that is eating you?"

I looked around furtively to make sure there were no spies concealed in the potted palms, and whispered:

"It is just this! I am afraid the Democratic national convention was unconstitutional!"

Mr. Farley replied he was afraid it was a whole lot of things—including the Scandinavian—but that he had never questioned the constitutionality.

"I would not be surprised," I said, "if the whole thing was illegal and that the Supreme Court—a hundred years from now when Roosevelt is not being drafted—will adjudge it illegal. The court probably will hold it was invalid because the most fundamental requirement was lacking."

"For heaven's sake!" cried Mr. Farley. "Do not keep me in suspense! What was it?"

"It was a lack, or deficiency," I said, "that in my opinion struck at the very foundations of American tradition.

"This break from noble tradition," I continued, "almost defies belief. It must have sinister connotations beyond the most depraved and iniquitous conjectures of man.

"It was this:

"Herbert Bayard Swope was not there to throw out the first vice-president!"

MR. FARLEY put his arm around my shoulder.

"This is indeed fearful," he said, "and I do not blame you for worrying. I knew there was something missing but I couldn't remember what."

With obvious effort he pulled himself together. Then he said:

"Well, what's done is done. There is only one thing left to do—carry on bravely and hope for the best.

"But," added Mr. Farley, dropping his voice to a joyous bellow, "let us make a solemn compact. Let us never mention this within the hearing of a Republican!"

MENTION of Mr. Swope, who is chairman of the New York State Racing Commission, recalls a wonderful piece of philosophy I overheard on a Chicago elevated train.

A man was telling his lady friend he had suffered a very, bad day at the races. He said he had dropped $150.

The lady seemed quite disturbed by this intelligence, but in a moment her face brightened.

"Never mind," she soothed. "You can get it all back working!"

MR. GEORGE CREEL was America's director of public information in the last war. He has been called the Elmer Davis of that conflict, but, if you wish to call him that I would seriously advise not to turn your back after you have said it.

On the train returning from Chicago, Mr. Creel was holding forth on the subject of political conventions.

"My boys," he said, paternally, "with the Republicans politics is a business.

"But with the Democrats it is always an emotional experience!"

I HOPE and trust this is a harbinger of an early return to glorious American normalcy But a hairbrush peddler came into our office the other day and tried to sell us some hairbrushes!

Gives a man a girl he can love,
As I, O my love, love thee;
And his hand is great with the pulse of fate
At home, on land, on sea.
-THOMSON.

THE WACs are still squawking about the hat that goes with their uniform. Who designed that chapeau? It is difficult to understand why more attention was not given to the glamour angle of the WAC headgear. Even before the United States was in the war the importance of hats to women in the armed services was discovered in England. There had been some difficulty in securing recruits for the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Air Force. Then some British war office genius, who understood women, arranged for the creating of a very snappy looking hat for the uniform for this branch. Enlistments immediately increased.

BRIEFLY: Most feminine novelists marry and become mothers but rarely have more than two children. Dorothy Aldis is an exception. She had four children in four years . . . Dispatch states the possibility of a woman being elected Mayor of Los Angeles is being discussed. If a woman runs for mayor of that town she is certain to be elected. In no other city in the country is the feminine portion of the population more firmly convinced that women are smarter than men than in Los Angeles.

PLEASE NOTE: Ivor Novello, British actor, composer and producer, has just spent 28 days in a London jail. Seems Novello was using more gasoline than he was entitled to. The British stand for no fooling as to the gasoline regulations.

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q. What is a "Jungle Juliet?" A. That's what the WACs call the women Marines. Q. As a Philadelphian, would like to ask what you think of the idea of having the peace conference held in Independence Hall in our city? A. Sounds like a great idea to me. Let London have the trial of war criminals and Philadelphia the peace conference. Seems New York, the greatest city in the world, should get some kind of a break. How about turning Hitler and Goebbels over to the New Yorkers for the Central Park Zoo? Q. You once claimed Robert Browning indicated a belief in astrology in one of his poems. Which poem is it? A. In the poem "Evelyn Hope" by Browning the following lines can be found:

Your soul is pure and true,
The good stars met in your horoscope
Made you of spirit, fire and dew.

MODELS: A soldier in New Guinea has asked me to get him a picture of a Manhattan model he can use as a pin-up girl. Says he: "I have eight pictures of Manhattan models but find they are all married. Is there such a thing as an unmarried Manhattan model?" Of course there are models in New York who are not married, but not so many of them. The fact is that about 60 per cent of models are married and 30 per cent are mothers.

BOOKS: Who was it said a book about a dog, a doctor or Abraham Lincoln rarely fails? Anyway, how did the originator of this observation overlook the selling power of books about infant care? Such books nearly always sell well, and not only that, they keep on being sold for years and years. The currently most popular baby book is "Infants and Children: Their Feeding and Growth," by Dr. Frederic Huntington Bartlett. Some authorities say this is the best infant care book of all time.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: "In New York's Harlem section boogie-woogie was born," states a contemporary. That's not right. Boogie-woogie originated in Galveston, Tex. . . . Forty-nine and a half per cent of favorites won at the recent Roosevelt raceway harness meet. That seems unusual but isn't. The average of winning favorites at all harness meets is about 45 per cent. Those pacers and trotters really race to form. One reason is because they are nearly always in good condition. Harness horse trainers know a lot more about horses than the running horse trainers.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 25—Duke Ellington, maestro and composer, has been a top flight music maker for decades, on Broadway and off. His tempos and his tunes have withstood the tests of time, trends and even jitterbugs . . . D. K.

DUKE ELLINGTON SAYS:

When that mad melody "The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round" was sweeping the country nobody ever dreamed that Riley and Farley, its madcap musical authors, were pulling a Brill Building Nostradamus on us all. But events have proved that they were right. The music has gone around and around and it's come right back to the heights of popularity.

Among the tunes that have walked the comeback trail are "As Time Goes By," "I'll Get By," "Embraceable You," "Cuddle Up A Little Closer," and "I'll Be Seeing You."

* * *

THE WAR had a definite part in bringing back the oldies. With so many people left hanging onto hope and memories until their men came home, the old tunes bring back pictures of days gone by and make things a bit easier to bear. Similarly our fighting men find it easier to conjure up pictures of grand nights in the past when they hear songs of other days.

With revivals in vogue, I've been digging into the memory book for other songs that seem to be about due for a return to public favor.

* * *

NUMBER ONE on the list is "Someone To Watch Over Me," one of the grandest of the Gershwin tunes. The tune is already on the comeback trail.

"Dream A Little Dream Of Me," the first song Kate Smith ever sang on the air, is another that seems to be set for a comeback.

"The Best Things In Life Are Free," from "Good News," will bring back to an older generation fond memories.

* * *

TODAY's music will be in for revival come that long awaited duration and six months day. The music we're playing today, tunes like "Long Ago And Far Away," "Do Notin' Till You Hear From Me," "No Love, No Nothing" will all be requested time and again by girls who will smile at their beaux and whisper softly, "This is the tune they were playing while you were overseas, Johnny."

WHY, JUNIOR— YOU BACK, OR HAVEN'T YOU GONE IN THE ARMY YET?
DEY DIDN'T TOOK ME ON ACCOUNTA MY AGE!··· Y'SEE, BEING BORN ON FEBERRY 29TH, DEY FIGGERED I'M 10 YEARS OLD BY LEAP YEAR BOITHDAYS EVERY 4 YEARS,··· OR 40 YEARS REG'LAR! SO I WAS TOO YOUNG AN' TOO OLD!

HOLLYWOOD, July 25—War Notes of the Week: The boys on a torpedo boat have nominated Rita Hayworth as simply "The Girl We'd Rather" . . .

Rita Hayworth

Florence S. Lowe in Daily Variety tells of Gene Autry, who arrived in Washington on a bond tour, talked with a hotel elevator attendant. He discovered this man was an ardent Autry fan who never missed a picture. "I," explained soldier Gene, "am Autry." "Aw, go on," replied the elevator attendant, "I'd know Autry anywhere. He always wears a big hat and a handkerchief around his neck." Autry, in uniform, finally had to sing "Get Along Little Dogie" to convince his fan that he was talking to his favorite.

* * *

PERFORMANCE of the Week: It was given one evening recently at Esquire Theater where the attraction is "Mayerling," with Charles Boyer and Danielle Darrieux. However, the performance was given by an actor and actress in the audience: Lana Turner and Turhan Bey.

Lana and Turhan were making love far more impressively than the lovers on the screen, and the few people in the audience weren't paying strict attention to the screen. When Lana and Turhan started walking out of the theater, believing they were unnoticed, the few people in the theater applauded them. It was a good show.

* * *

ENTERTAINMENT of the Week: Tom Jenk claims that the billboards boast that it is Darryl F. Zanuck's "Wilson" so people will not believe it is a whisky advertisement. Then some believe it's about Earl . . . A favorite meeting place of "swing lovers" and the stay-up-lates is the Trocadero where the King Cole Trio entertains . . . The Actors Lab Theater is presenting "Four Modern Classics" by Sean O'Casey, Irwin Shaw and Anton Chekhov with such talented players as Art Smith, Morris Carnovsky, Ruth Nelson, Sam Levene, Roman Bohnen, Phoebe Brand and Lee Cobb . . . Harry Mandell, a solicitor for motion picture advertising copy, was told that he ought to be in pictures. And now he is Doug Morrow with a contract at International Pictures and a role in the Sonja Henie picture, "It's a Pleasure" . . . Earl Robinson, the composer, was the luncheon guest of Eleanor Roosevelt at her hotel suite while she was in town . . . This sign is over the repair shop at 20th Century-Fox: "The difficult we do immediately. The impossible takes a little longer."

* * *

HOLLYWOODIANA of the Week: After the sneak preview of a picture, the producer hearing his picture being panned, said: "It wasn't supposed to be a good picture. It was supposed to be entertainment." But don't get me wrong. I love Hollywood.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 25—My mind went back to the Paulette Goddard who rehearsed so hard with Bob Hope in "The Awful Truth" when I was told these two are to be teamed again in "Girl Town." They did "The Awful Truth" on the radio for me and Paulette worked very hard, for she had not yet achieved the fame that is hers now.

Paulette Goddard

Her first success was made with Bob Hope in "The Cat and the Canary," one of those chiller-thrillers done in a comedy vein. So the Paramount biggies got their heads together and decided to co-star them with George Marshall directing, when Bob comes back from his trip in the South Pacific. By the way, I have a copy of his book, "I Never Left Home," which he sent me before he left for his unnamed destination.

TOMORROW at the RKO convention in Chicago, Charles Koerner will tell of a coming technicolor special, "The Spanish Main," by Aeneaz MacKenzie and Clement Riley. Even more interesting than the word that Maureen O'Hara, Paul Henreid and Walter Slezak are in the cast, is the news Stephen Ames will be associate producer. Yes, Stephen, is at last in the movies. The well-known promoter, stage producer and husband of Raequel Torres will work with Producer Robert Fellows.

DON AMECHE met today with his lawyer and his manager about the new company, Command Pictures, which will star the singing actor. The company is in the process of being organized and although I have a hunch United Artists will release the Ameche pictures, as they have the James Cagney productions and others of the same ilk, no plans have been made.

THANKS to Molly Heilman, reporter on the San Antonio Light, for an interesting item on Pvt. Red Skelton. She tells me Red was flown from Camp Roberts, Cal., for a dinner given in San Antonio to each person buying a $1000 war bond. Mink coats, the sewing-machine of the Empress Carlotta, silver, antiques, were all auctioned off. And then Red turned auctioneer, and grabbing a cardboard poster with Gen. Eisenhower's picture from the wall, handed it to several attending generals to auction, and sold it for $250,000. Warrant Officer Gene Autry, loaned by the Army, also helped bring in $4,201,000.

GAIL PATRICK, who is very happy with her bridegroom, Lt. Arnold White, writes there will be no AWOL on the records to blemish his naval record. Gail was very upset over the publicity and it seems there was some misunderstanding about his absence. The commanding officer said there were extenuating circumstances, but even more than that—apparently—the whole thing was a misunderstanding. Gail spent the week-end with him and is now in her home town, Birmingham, where she will visit a military hospital.

THE EMPHATIC denial of Casey Robinson that he and Tamara Toumanova are planning to marry when he is legally free surprised many people in Hollywood, even his closest friends. If he goes to International she'll be the femme star in his picture, "The Green Mussar," based on Ferenc Molnar's play. His negotiations with Bill Goetz will probably go through, as well as the deal for Gregory Peck to play opposite Toumanova, who was with Peck in "Days of Glory."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Betty Hutton has bought a beach house at Playa Del Rey; Carmen Miranda is on her way for a personal appearance tour that will take her to Brazil; Sharon Lynn, estranged wife of Barney Glazer, who has been in New York for months, is back in town; Fred Othman's stepson, Jimmy Roper, was the first American correspondent to be injured by a robot bomb in London. He is in a hospital, but is not seriously wounded; Vera Vague rented her cattle to Republic for a western; Pvt. Ray McDonald, now in "Winged Victory," has discovered June Haver and can you blame him?; Gene Fowler goes into retirement to start on the story of his life; Anthony Del Campo, Mary Astor's five-year-old, will be the youngest cadet in a private naval academy this fall; Ezio Pinza, well-known basso, is the Frank Sinatra of the opera and women swoon over him. The rush to buy tickets to hear him sing August 1 is terrific; Dolores Moran isn't telling how she lost 15 pounds necessary for a camera appearance; Irene Dunne was surprised with a new dressing room at Columbia; Bet Peter Van Eycke will have something to say when the war is over. His wife (Ruth Ford) has made a playsuit out of all his ties; The Lupe Velez-De Cordova romance is hotter than ever.

Smart Set

Margie Fry to Wed

By BETTY ALDEN

VIA LONG DISTANCE calls which she receives at daybreak, Margie Fry of Plymouth and her fiance, Lt. Robert Craig Campbell, are making their wedding plans.

Mrs. Oliver W. Hayes—Her bridegroom is home on leave.

Craig is in California en route home for his first leave in over two years and when he calls from there late at night it is about dawn here.

In their coast-to-coast talks they've decided on Aug. 5 as the date and The Forges Chapel, Plymouth, the setting. The picturesque little chapel is on the estate of Margie's mother, Mrs Whipple Fry, and has been the scene of many weddings in the family. A reception will follow on the lawn.

It's about a month since Margie knew for sure Craig was on his way home from the Pacific and we met her one day excitedly buying a pair of yellow linen slippers for her going away suit. Powder blue and yellow, her favorite and most becoming colors, are the theme for her trousseau and the bridesmaids' costumes of yellow gowns with muffs of forget-me-nots.

PARTIES for the pretty bride-to-be, who is a member of the Vincent Club and Junior League, are creating quite a social whirl. Mary Alice Mason of Winchester gave a linen shower the other night starting at 7 with dessert, ice cream and fresh peaches. Gifts included table linens, towels, shower curtains, and the donors included Mrs Robert N. Campbell, mother of the future bridegroom, Mrs. Charles Reeves, Mrs. Thomas Worthen, Mrs. Joseph Worthen, Mrs. C. E. Farnsworth, Anne Withington, Mrs Clifford Roberts, daughter, Betty, and Becky Farnsworth, who is giving a miscellaneous shower tonight.

Margie is having a tooth pulled this morning and hopes she'll be able to make the party tonight. Thursday there's to be a large party at Mrs. Sherman Whipple's in Plymouth. Mrs. Russell Fry, Jr., and Sylvia Fry will be the attendants and among the ten honorary bridesmaids will be Craig's sisters, Vivian, who works for the Women's Press in New York, and Barbara, who is overseas with the Red Cross.

CELEBRATING her husband's first leave in 18 months, beauteous Mrs. Oliver Wolcott Hayes (Nancy Joy Bernard) danced with him in the Copley Plaza Oval Room the other night. With her pareback short black evening gown she wore sheer black lace mitts, a diamond bracelet and silver fox jacket. Sara Weeks, cute in a poppy and bachelor button print on a chalk background, had an Army date and Grace Ver Planck of Walton, who is vacationing from Vassar, accented her tawny hair with a white silk jersey lavishly trimmed with hand-painted blue and purple orchids.

Sammy Kaye Here Thursday

Sammy Kaye, whose swing-and-sway rhythms are known from coast to coast, brings his popular orchestra to the RKO Boston stage on Thursday for a week's run. Other featured stage performers will be ventriloquist Paul Winchell and juggler-comic Ben Beri. For film fare there will be "Ladies of Washington" with Trudy Marshall and Ronald Graham.

Prominently spotted in the Kaye musical organization are Billy Williams, Nancy Norman, the Three Kaydets and the Kaye Choir. Another happy feature the bandleader will bring to the K-B stage is the "So You Want To Be a Star" contest. Auditions will be held at Raymor Ballroom, 253 Huntington ave., beginning tomorrow, between 2 and 5 p. m. and 7:30 and 10 p. m.

Anyone who can sing, dance, play a musical instrument, do impersonations may enter the contest by writing or telephoning to or applying in person to the RKO Boston house manager.

Those accepted will appear at a designated performance. At the end of the week there is to be the grand finals, with cash prizes for the winners.

"Ladies of Washington," the forthcoming screen attraction, is a fast-moving tale of the complications ensuing when a girl cabby and a Spar pick up a dejected girl who has everything but a roof over her head.

Guerrilla Epic to Trans-Lux

"Underground Guerillas," dramatic story of the Jugoslav underground fighters due tomorrow on the Trans-Lux screen, is said to be an authentic blend of incidents told by refugees from that country to producer Michael Batoon.

Still fighting after the army laid down its arms, guerrillas swoop down from their hill retreats to harass the enemy in every possible manner, which means action as well as timely interest for movie fans.

The little Jugoslav community is shown through a peasant family. They're celebrating a wedding anniversary as the picture opens, a scene in joyous contrast to those that follow showing the Nazi conquerors advancing and leaving a trail of horror.

Bookmakers Are Banned at 'Rock

By JACK CONWAY

AT THE ROCKINGHAM PARK opening . . . Lou Smith issuing an order to bar all bookmakers from Rockingham Park as he has done during the 12 years the track has been in operation . . . Lou has been around racing long enough to know that bookmakers are of no value to the owners of a track or to the people who push their money through the mutuel machines in the hope of coming up with a winning ticket.

A dozen bookmakers at a race track will reduce the handle by $100,000 on big days . . . Bookmakers are often more interested in seeing a favorite lose than win, and Smith rightfully feels that they cannot do him anything but harm.

Mort Mahony

The attendance of 10,000 and handle of $434,443 started Rockingham Park off on what should be the most successful summer meeting in its history . . . The handle for the first day of the summer meeting two years ago (there was not any summer meeting in 1943 due to the transportation restrictions) was $286,000 . . . The handle for the opening day of the fall meeting last year was $332,000.

Perhaps it was the sunshine combined with the green grass and cool breeze from the mountains, for there were no complaints from horsemen or racegoers.

"The track is in the best possible condition," said Trainer Christmas . . . "I like the improvement on the turn at the head of the stretch . . . It has been lifted up and banked so that there is less tendency for a horse to run out."

Harry Hayes, track superintendent, was jubilant when there were no showers.

John R. Macomber

JOHN R. MACOMBER of Raceland, in Framingham, attended the opening . . . I met Macomber in the paddock looking over a fine field of thoroughbreds ready to go to the post . . . The Framingham sportsman has always liked Rockingham Park with its Saratoga atmosphere.

Frank Ryan, able publicity director of Suffolk Downs and the Bruins, took in the races . . . Frank told me that the Red Cross, United War Fund with which Community Fund in associated and the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser, will share in more than $230,000 from the six days of charity racing at Suffolk Downs.

John Swisher, who represents the Jockey's Guild, took in the races, and also gave some attention to matters concerning the riders . . . At a special meeting Swisher warned the jockeys against rough riding.

Lou Smith's innovation in New England of having a steward near the start worked out well . . . Norman Charlton occupied this post, and he furnished a detailed report of the start of each race . . . In the event of a serious infraction of the rules which might call for a disqualification, Charlton will signal the stewards in the stand. The race will not be declared official until Charlton is heard . . . Smith decided on a steward at the start of races following the Bayport near riot at Suffolk Downs.

Zacabrand a Winner

P. T. CATALANO'S Zacabrand, with Jockey Hettinger up made a stirring finish to win the Bristol over the six furlongs distance to pay $22.80 for a $2 ticket . . . Texas Sandman for a time looked like a winner in the race past the stands . . . Zacabrand just got up to win.

Sixteen Cents, who was shipped in from New York and who won the third race, has a large lump on his right knee.

"The horse was born with that lump on his knee," Dr. Lewis, veternarian, told me in the paddock . . . "I treated Sixteen Cents when he was a yearling, and the condition with his knee has never got worse . . . It does not seem to bother his running."

Sixteen Cents proved Dr. Lewis was right by winning a clear cut victory . . . Rocky Palladino, who won the first race of the day with Tide's In, the favorite, told me that Little Beans has been showing good form in training and that he may start again before Rockingham meeting closes.

John Aborn of the Providence Journal-Bulletin, was in the press box for opening day . . . Little Banner was placed on the stewards' list and will not be permitted to run for the remainder of the meeting . . . Little Banner was hopelessly outclassed in the seventh race which was won by Miss Identify in impressive style . . . Mack O'Dowd, new vice-president and secretary of Rockingham, was active in the mutuel department . . . Mort Mahoney was on the job directing the mutuel operation.

Mrs. Lou Smith was on hand for the opening . . . Johnny Francis, a top-flight member of Mahoney's mutuel crew, took time out for a few friendly thoughts about Sam Simon who passed away last Fall . . . Sam was always very much part of Rockingham . . . Mrs. Simon and her assistants directed the concessions.

Eben Pond remarked that every barn at the track is filled . . . Which should make Racing Secretary John Turner's job more pleasant.

Chairman George Conway and Charley Allen of the New Hampshire Racing Commission saw that the State's end of the opening moved smoothly . . . Charley Stickey represented the State in the stewards' stand.

Ryan Enters Service, Coleman Shifts Team

By BILL GRIMES

After losing three straight to the St. Louis Cardinals, Manager Bob Coleman had to shake up his lineup today, when Connie Ryan was inducted into the U. S. Navy.

The Braves open a four game series with the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon. After a single contest today, there will be a double-header tomorrow and the series will wind up with a twilight game starting at 5:30 Thursday.

Manager Coleman realizes that it will be impossible to get a replacement capable of filling Connie Ryan's shoes. Ryan has been outstanding this season. He hit close to .300 and his fielding has been sensational.

In order to fill the gap created by Ryan's departure, Manager Coleman made three changes in the lineup, which faced the Cardinals yesterday. He shifted Warren Huston from third to second base, moved Dee Phillips over to the hot corner and sent "Whitey" Wietelmann back to short stop.

At the start of the season, Manager Coleman realized that Connie Ryan would receive his "Greetings" before the close of the campaign. So, as insurance, Pres. Bob Quinn signed Warren Huston, who was a free agent. Huston had had some major league experience with the Athletics but because he is a teacher at Newton High School was unable to report until late in June. Huston has played fairly good ball at third but they say that he is better at the keystone sack and that he can make the old "D.P."

In the event that he has become accustomed to his glasses and his hand is O.K., "Whitey" Wietelmann will tighten up the infield, which has been as loose as ashes of late.

Ben Cardoni, who has suffered four defeats and hasn't registered a win this season, will open the series with the Reds. On his last time out, which was against the Chicago Cubs, Big Ben was licked by two pitches. Bill Nicholson combed one of his serves for a two run homer early in the game and then after the Braves had tied the count little Dom Dallessandro slammed one into the Chicago bull pen for another two run circuit clout, which was the ball game.

The Lineups

Hofferth, c	c, Mueller

Game starts at 3:00 o'clock.

Macon Decides He's No Chase or Sisler

While the Braves were on their first Western trip, a ten-foot cinder track was installed in front of the center-field fence . . . The object was to warn the outfielders that they were approaching the barrier . . . Until last Sunday, the cinder track paid dividends.

Tommy Holmes made numerous sensational catches against the fence, which had bothered him since he joined the club . . . After watching the boys pull up on Sunday and yesterday, there's a slight suspicion that they they have again become fence shy . . . Chet Ross should have gathered in Johnny Hopp's triple in the ninth inning of Sunday's opening game and "Butch" Nieman has no excuse for not getting Ted Wilks' ball which went for two bases yesterday and sent across the first St. Louis run . . . "Chuck" Workman and Augie Bergamo robbed Johnny Hopp and Jim Tobin, respectively, of extra base hits by jumping against the fence and spearing well-hit balls.

Jim Tobin must have seen the handwriting on the wall in the early innings . . . But, as always, he never flinched . . . Stew Hofferth caught the ball that Hopp hit for a two-run homer in the Braves' bullpen . . . Lt. Col. Dick Hevessy, who is home on leave after more than two years in the South Pacific, visited with the Braves before the game . . . Active service with the Marines pared "beaucoup" pounds off Dick . . . He will work out with the Braves this afternoon.

Max Macon threw away his first baseman's mitt . . . He will turn his attention to the outfield, or pitching . . . He did it on his own.

Jim decided that he had had enough when his mates allowed "Whitey" Kurowski to score from first base on "Slats" Marion's lazy two bagger to left center in the 6th . . . Stan Klopp, who relieved Al Javery on Sunday, replaced Tobin . . . Wilks didn't have much trouble chalking up his eighth victory of the season.

"Slats" Marion connected with nine hits during his three-day visit here with the Cards . . . He had a perfect day yesterday, three doubles and a sacrifice hit . . . During the two and two-thirds rounds he was in action, Stan Klopp gave up only one run on two hits . . . Then, big Jim Hickey was the finishing pitcher.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 25 (AP)—Manager Heinie Manush of the Scranton Red Sox was back in good standing today in the Eastern League, following the lifting of a one-day suspension order for non-paymetn of a $50 fine.

Fourth Place Fight Impends in Parkers

Still fighting for an undisputed fourth place berth as the Boston Park League's regular season nears its end, Lawley's travels to Columbus Park, South Boston, to play third place Linehan Club, tonight.

The Neponset ship builders have climbed up the ladder in the last week and are at present tied with the Watertown Arsenal for fourth and a victory this evening, providing the Arsenal loses again to the Navy Yard would practically clinch the position.

At Draper Park, West Roxbury, Hicks Engineering and Casey Cluo play the second of their home and home series and George Kamp's team, which almost turned the trick last night, will be gunning to knock the second place Dorchester club off. Bill Bishop will start for Hicks and Bob Fulton will be Mgr Dick Casey's choice.

The Navy Yard had to stage a two run last inning spurt to beat the Arsenal last night and the two meet again tonight at Healy Field. Will Chapman, world famous colored submarine baller, will take over the Arsenal mound duties and Larry Kelley, who pitched to four men last night, will start for the Navy Yard.

Youngsters Rule Grand Circuit

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., July 25 (AP)—Youngsters predominated today's grand circuit racing, Gibson White taking yesterday's feature with Leta Long by Volomite from the stable of W. N. Reynolds, Winston-Salem, N. C.

White's entry was a three-heat winner over a classy field in the class 27 and 3-year-old pace. Howard Hanover, driven by Franklin Safford, took three seconds.

The $1000 class 27 and 3-year-old trot went in two heats to White, this time behind his own horse, Ahead Again by Guy Abbey.

Townsend Ackerman with Tabb Hanover, and Eddie Havens behind Breezing took the class 11 pace and the 2-year-old trot consolation respectively.

The combination of Tabb Hanover and Axomite paid daily double ticket holders $22.10. The parimutuel handle totaled $48,082.

Browns Sit Pretty After Crucial Series

By Associated Press

Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns were sitting pretty tonight after splitting a four-game series with the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees, but a new flag threat was developing in the Cleveland Indians.

The Brownies had a tight fit with the Red Sox in the series finale as Boston rallied for four runs in the eighth inning. Chasing started Denny Galehouse, but fell one run short, 6-5.

Mike Kreevich drove in three runs with a triple and single and Al Zarilla collected a homer, triple and single to provide the St. Louis punch against Emmett O'Neal and two successors.

INDIANS ADVANCE

Cleveland advanced to within a half game of Boston and four and a half of the top by walloping Washington, 10-1, their seventh win in their last eight starts. Specs Klieman, a recent graduate from relief roles, turned back the Sens with a sparkling four-hitter as the Tribe battered Early Wynn for 15 blows and his sixth straight loss.

Dizzy Trout grabbed win No. 14 by the shutout route, blanking Philadelphia 1-0, in a twilight game when Rudy York doubled Roger Cramer homer in the fourth inning. Bobo Newsom was charged with his tenth loss.

Teddy Wilks, the latest hurling sensation of the National League, boosted his record to 8-1 by hurling the St. Louis Cards to a 7-1 triumph over Jim Tobin and the Boston Braves. Marty Marion with three successive doubles helped Wilks capture his fifth straight.

Phil Weintraub's 400-foot double drove across the winnig runs as the New York Giants rallied to score four times in the eighth inning and square the Chicago series with a 5-3 decision.

Rube Fischer, who went to the hill after Ewald Pyle had given way to a pinch hitter, received credit for the victory, snapping his 5-game losing streak as Claude Passeau blew a 2-run lead the suffer her seventh setback.

DODGERS BREAK LOOSE

Brooklyn broke loose with its biggest inning of the season, scoring nine times in the seventh, to kayo Rip Sewell and top Pittsburgh, 12-7. Dixie Walker's ninth homer with a man on was the telling blow. Charley Fuchs, recently acquired from the St. Louis Browns, got credit for the win.

The New York Yankees flattened the White Sox, 11-5, after the cigar smoking Sox boss had been retained for two more years. Bud Metheny and Johnny Lindell socked homers to help Ernie Bonham grab his seventh win at Buck Ross' expense.

Ten Winners Show On Dilboy Card

Ten winners of class titles in previous Dilboy amateur fight shows will be returning to the Somerville stadium tomorrow night when the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W., stages the third in its series of fistic festivals under floodlights.

Included in this group will be two New England champions, Mario Zullo, Chelsea bantamweight, and Little Chief Haynes, light-heavyweight from the Quonset Point Naval Station.

Banner Card For Ball Fans

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—A series of field events, with a comedy act added, will feature the preliminaries for tomorrow's night war fund game between the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators. Net proceeds of the contest, the third annual war relief baseball show at Comiskey Park, will go to the National War Fund and the Red Cross.

Three players from each team will engage in a 75-yard dash event, with Washington's trio headed by George Case, American League champion base stealer. Other Senators are Johnny Sullivan and George Myatt, and the Sox entries are Thurman Tucker, Joe Haynes and Ed Garnett. Catchers will compete in an accuracy throwing contest and another event scheduled is a relay throwing contest, with each club entering four players.

Coach Nick Altrock of the Senators and the Sox coaches, Mule Haas and Bing Miller, are to vie for honors in a wheelbarrow race from second base to home plate. They will be blindfolded and spun around before heading for home.

Guy Bush Back In Baseball

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 25 (AP)—After being out of baseball the past four years, 39-year-old Guy Bush is going to try a comeback with the Chattanooga Lookouts.

The veteran National League pitcher, who said he had been working out with the Chicago Cubs and White Sox for the past two weeks, declared:

"I'm ready for relief hurling now and will be ready to start in a week or ten days. My arms and legs are in shape but I need to improve my wind."

Bush has a Mississippi farm and a string of filling stations n Cihicago, but said "Shucks, I wanted to get back in baseball —that's why I came here."

Dykes Signs Two-Year Chi Contract

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Baseball's rumor-peddlers scurried for cover today as James J. (Jimmie) Dykes waved the ink dry on a new contract extending his managership of the Chicago White Sox through 1945 and 1946.

The two-year renewal of Dykes' present three-year agreement, which ends this season, was announced last night by Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, to newspapermen in Jim's presence. Dykes had signed the new contract an hour before a nocturnal game between the Sox and New York Yankees.

ACTION NIPS RUMOR

The action nipped a swelling flow of rumors that the colorful, 47-year-old Dykes was about to part ways with the club he had managed since May 9, 1934—an 11-season span that is far and away the longevity record for a Pale Hose pilot.

Grapevine reports had Jim eyeing three National League clubs—Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The most persistent rumor was that Dykes, a native of Philadelphia and once an infield fixture of Connie Mack's Athletics, would go to the Phillies, now freshened by DuPont cash.

Those whisperings grew louder after the feeble showing made by the Sox on their last road trip. Strutting eastward in second place, Dykes' charges dropped 14 games in 20 starts and straggled back to Comiskey Park a cellar candidate.

TERMS A SECRET

Mrs. Comiskey was mum on terms, but smilingly told sports writers Dykes "did not take a cut" in his new agreement, which means Bill will be getting around $27,500 a year, reportedly his present salary.

No other Sox manager in the club's 43-year history served more than five seasons and only the venerable Mack and Joe McCarthy of the Yanks top Dykes in successive seasons as big league bosses.

Dykes' first season in 1934, when he succeeded Lew Fonseca, was his poorest as the Sox finished eighth. Although six of Jim's clubs would wind up in the first division, none placed higher than third. His best season was 1937, when the Hose won 86 and lost 68 and finished third.

Doerr, Walker Lead Batters

Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox and Dixie Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers were the men to beat for the major league batting crowns today as they rounded the 14-week pole with comfortable margins.

Doerr, hitting .337, passed team mate Pete Fox during the week and opened up a 19-point gap on Dick Siebert of the Athletics who took over the American League runnerup spot.

Fox was third at .317 in averages including night games of July 24. Thurman Tucker of Chicago, the early season pace-setter, skidded into a fifth place tie with Bob Johnson of Boston at .313.

Walker zoomed past Stan Musial of the Cardinals, who led him by three points a week ago, and went out front by 16 degrees with a .357 average. Johnny Hopp of the Cards skipped from sixth place to third at .322.

3 Grid Veterans on Washington Squad

SEATTLE, July 25 (AP)—Coach Ralph (Pest) Welch has only three leftovers from the Unversity of Washington football squad that took a shellacking from Southern California in the Rose Bowl—and one of these was only a sub.

Welch described the 40-man squad, after yesterday's opening practice, as just about par for a peacetime freshman turnout.

Kittleson Lass Changes Mind

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Jane Dillard Kittleson, 23-year-old national 100-meter breast-stroke champion who said she was going to quit after last year's meet, has changed her mind. She'll be around for the national outdoor championships in Kansas City Aug. 18-19, and she's counting on another record.

Mrs. Kittleson holds the national record for the 100-meter breast-stroke, 1:24.3 set last year, and also has the world mark for the 100-yard breast-stroke, 1:16.6.

"She can do better than that now," says S. L. (Pop) Dillard, her father-coach. "She breaks that every time she swims it."
